

To - Mother

*You gave my wandering life a direction
You showed a certain pathway
Filed with qualities which made me contented.*

*Now I am strong.
I have gone a long way
With you by my side.
But I find I am a isfit in this world.
I am not accepted.
The way seems to be far away
From the main road.*

*Why?
Am I wrong?
Why can't I be accepted?
Why do I face this hostility?
Did you know all this would happen?*

*I am stuck.
Some instinct deep down
Sends a warning signal:
"Go back. Join the main road - NOW."
But I know that I have come too far.*

*Do you believe that this road is safe?
If not, how will we got back?
Or should we?*

*It is enough for me
That we walk this road together.
We can hold each other's hand
And then I am not scared any more.*

*But if you leave me
I will be lost forever.
And no one ... nothing.
Can bring me back*

Again!
